H is true still, as the greate to beerver and thinker of our race said, that 'men with oue accord praise new-horn games; "and not only, this but they rive to dust which is a little gilt more land than gilt oc'r-dustan elegantly upholatered pulpit, uttered with the studied display of finished elecution, corresponding with the elegant music which leaves the sidge foorlights for the caurch or chestra on Sundays is considered by the fashionable elegance of the wor d all that is neers sary to meet the demand of modern religion, Do not those who doze in the pews pay the highest price both to preacher and singer? And shall their bired servants make uncomfortable that hour of case when they can i trey choose forget politics, stocks, wheat corners and real estate, by felling them, of duty, of the sin and suffering in the world that they might help or remove? The cities not only of mr own land but of all the world swarm with the grorant, the vicious, the terrible. They are given over to evil; they seem forgotten of God, and cartainly are shunned and a horred by man. Now and then humble men, and won an almost starving themselves in their efforts to enlighten, go to them, but on y to carn how futile are human efforts to siem a tile of vice that has grown fouler and darker through generations.
